

FINANCIAL ADVISOR

With You Through Life's Transitions. Giving You Financial Peace of Mind.

With more than 30 years of experience helping her clients plan for their financial needs, Laura knows a thing or two about helping people achieve financial peace of mind. And to Laura, it's all about planning and discipline. Financial security and peace of mind are achieved by creating a plan and having the discipline to adhere to the plan through life's transitions. Doing this, Laura insists, allows her clients to live the best possible lives.

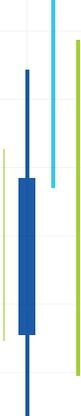

Another key to Laura's time-tested approach to helping her clients accumulate and retain wealth is always being one-on-one. Face-to-face. Person-to-person. Because Laura doesn't help clients, she helps people. Retirees, executives, business owners, entrepreneurs, and professionals. People with real concerns, questions, and goals. Human beings who have worked—or are working—hard and want to be confident they will reap the maximum rewards from their efforts. And her job is to work with them, understand their concerns and goals, and give them the confidence of knowing they can, and will, reach them.

And Laura isn't just passionate about planning and discipline when it comes to her work, it's also how she lives her life. She's exacting and passionate, and challenges herself through cycling, skiing, hiking, and scuba diving. This intensity is also channeled through her affiliations with professional organizations including the Financial Planning Association of North Alabama. Laura is an active member of The Women's Network and The Breast Cancer Research Foundation of Alabama Executive Committee.

YOUR FUTURE IS OUR PRIORITY

“When my clients feel secure about the plan we've created, they are empowered to live the way they choose. I want my clients to enjoy watching their goals come to life without worrying whether they've chosen the right path.”
